START CONSTRUCTION OF BIG SEWER SYSTEM

Work Commenced Today on North Charleroi Contract

Contracting Company of Opinion Various Lines Will be Ready for Use Early

Work was begun by the Donora Construction company this morning on the installation of a sewer system covering the hill district of North Charleroi. The job complete will amount to between $8,000 and $9,000. A ditch was started on Lock street, which leads from near the end of the bridge westward over the hill. Concrete work will follow. Up Lock street and up another street will be located 24 inch sewers.

Three 8-inch main sewers will be laid stretching north and south on three hill streets, Center and Conrad avenues and Peach alley. The entire system will be so constructed that it will correspond with the Charleroi system in order that later the construction of a sewage disposal plant by both boroughs will not cause unusual inconvenience.

The entire sewer system will be in extent about two miles long. According to the estimates of the engineers for the company it will take until about the middle of August to complete the work. Today Donald Allen of Charleroi is in charge of the work. Glen Baker however will be the man generally in charge after the work is gotten well under way.

NEW PHARMACY TO BE OPENED IN CHARLEROI

Within a few weeks Charleroi will have another pharmacy. Frank J. John, who for 19 years has been connected with the history of the town and who is an expert druggist is preparing to open up an establishment in the M. Wilson building at 510 Fallowfield avenue, formerly occupied by the Colonial Market company. He will open his store about the first of July. Mr. John has made arrangements for numerous changes about the building which will be fitted up into a most up-to-date pharmacy. The latest kind of furniture and fixtures will be installed and a sanitary soda fountain will be a feature. Later announcement will be made of the date of opening.

Lots For Sale.

Five vacant lots on the east or lower side of Meadow avenue. These lots start at the corner of Third street. They make up half of the large vacant plot on Meadow avenue.

Playgrounds Auxiliary Getting Affairs in Shape for Playgrounds Opening

Speaking and music furnished by children will feature the annual opening of the Charleroi playgrounds that will take place on May 30. The Playgrounds Auxiliary is now getting affairs in shape for the event and will be ready within a few days to announce the speakers. The playgrounds equipment is being repainted and put in the best possible shape for the summer season.

LABORING MEN SHOW PROGRESS

State Federation Approves of Progressive Measures

ACTIONS ARE DISCUSSED

To the Editor of the Charleroi Mail: Sir—With the adjournment of the State Federation of Labor convention on Friday evening, May 17, the delegates returned home with the knowledge that the organization was stronger numerically and financially than it ever was before and that plans suggested, when carried out, will lead to the affiliation with the State Federation of every branch of trade in the State of Pennsylvania. Never in the history of the State labor organization has there been such a harmonious convention, and never has its power been demonstrated so forcibly as told in President Maurer's report. President Maurer in his report tells of the success and activity of the Labor Legislative committee and makes it very plain that through the efforts of the Committee, labor has received more recognition than at any other time in the State's history. When we consider the fact that representatives of 300,000 men (and organized at that) march into the senate chamber and tell the senators what they favor (and they know) it will certainly be a subject for much talk in the Senator's district, who ignores their pleas, and votes against the bills that the labor organization are unanimous for. President Maurer commented with pleasure on the fact that the industrial field was well reported and predicted that the coming sessions of the legislature will not only heed the representatives of Labor, but that efforts will be made to elect men next year who won't be afraid to state their position on questions, without having to get a permit from the boss.

NOAH HOUGH PLACED ON TRIAL FOR MURDER

Alleged Assassin of Monessen Policeman Answers "Not Guilty" When Case is Called—Jurors Selected

With a smiling smile that indicated that for once he was prominent in the public eye, Noah Hough, who shot and killed Policeman Michael Connelley of Monessen, Monday morning, May 19, at a disorderly house at Wireton March 8 entered the plea "Not guilty," in a most self-assured manner when arraigned in the Westmoreland county court at Greensburg Monday. The case was called before Judge McConnell in the afternoon, and after the charge of murder had been read to Hough the empaneling of a jury began. Eleven jurors were secured by the time court adjourned. It is expected that the trial will open Tuesday morning, and that the trial will open. A big delegation of Monessen people are in attendance at the trial, including the burgess and members of the council. The case will be vigorously prosecuted and every effort made to convict Hough, against whom there is a strong case.

FIRST MURDER TRIAL OF SESSION CALLED

Harry Musconey Hearing Started Before Judge Holt, Who is Sitting in Judge Taylor's Court—Jury Quickly Secured

The case of Harry Musconey an Italian of Marianna, charged with shooting and killing Betty Quill, a fellow countryman at West Zolersville the night of December 22, was called for trial at Washington Monday before Judge Holt of Beaver. After he left the Justus house that country, who is assisting Judge McConnell in criminal court this week. The shooting is alleged to have followed a disagreement between the two men at the home of Johanna Justus, at West Zolersville. Musconey and Quill had been there and had gone away. Shortly afterwards, Quill staggered into the Justus house falling to the floor, and as he did so, he said, "Well he shot me." After a two days' search Musconey was apprehended at Bentleyville. The evidence showed that Quill passed the house on Monday night. The defense will endeavor to show that Quill was the dead man, was the aggressor or in the trouble.

SKIN GRAFTING IS SUCCESSFUL

Patches Amounting to Over 60 Square Inches Placed on Every Jobes' Body

BRIGADE BOYS HEROIC

Over 60 square inches of skin was placed on the burned portion of Everley Jobes' body at the Allegheny General hospital Monday. The skin was supplied principally by eight members of the Washington Avenue Boy's Brigade of Charleroi. L. E. Jobes, father of the young man, supplied a large patch of cuticle. The operation performed Monday morning was pronounced most successful. Those who gave up skin for relief of young Jobes were O. M. Wise who is at the head of the brigade, John Clutter, Zenobe Boudoux, Austin Stahlman, Thomas Jeffries, Walter Ailes, Ross Watson, Curtis Collins and Mr. Jobes.

On an average from 7 to 8 square inches of skin was shaved from the right limb of each. Two strips were taken from all excepting one, each strip being about one inch wide.

SIX MONTHS FOR ABUSING PAPER BOY

For malicious mischief, his alleged offense being the kicking over three times of a newsboy's wheelbarrow load of Sunday papers and heaving a heavy brick at the head of the lad, "Crawford" Sarver, a well-known man about Monongahela was sentenced to six months in the workhouse of Alderman Day at Monongahela Monday. Information was made by Robert Mackay, a newsdealer.

MIKESSELL IS HONORED AT WASHINGTON

O. Evans Mikesell, scaler of weights and measures for Washington county who was in attendance at the eighth annual conference of the weights and measure officials of the United States, at Washington, D. C., carried off the honors of this state. He was appointed chairman of publicity and resolutions and was elected a permanent officer of the national organization, a member of the executive committee. The conference went on record in favor of weight as against volume or measure.

MEASURE APPROVED BY HOUSE

Public Utilities Bill Goes Through on Final Action

FEW VOTE OPPOSITION

Harrisburg, May 20.—By a vote of 185 to 9 the public utilities bill finally passed the house on second reading. This is the measure advocated by Governor Tener which is designed to create a public utilities commission to regulate the public service corporations. Although there were few votes recorded against the bill it was bitterly attacked on final reading on the grounds that it should be so amended as to allow the commission to supervise proposed issues of stock and bonds by the corporations under regulation. The bill now goes to the senate, where it is expected that it will encounter no serious opposition. The Kline bill, one of the few measures the liquor interests of the state have attempted to put through, was defeated in the house by a vote of 97 to 86, which lacked 18 votes of a constitutional majority. What was known as the beer peddling bill was also defeated in the house by a vote of 93 to 90, as was the bill to increase the penalty for persons arrested for intoxication.

Thus far 173 bills have been approved by the governor, 103 of them house bills. In all 235 bills have been sent to the executive's desk, 205 of them house bills and 30 senate bills. The governor has vetoed 27 bills, 16 having been recalled and 11 remain to be disposed of.

Joyriding is Overdone, Complaint Cited by Citizens

Diamond is Estimated as Damaged

Speeding Automobile Occasion Peril to Children and Others is Assertion

Unless there is an abatement of the excessive automobile nuisance on Charleroi streets, it is declared by numerous residents who have no automobiles, the familiar scriptural injunction referring to the "quick and the dead" will be illustrated in every day life. The quick will be those who get out of the way and the dead those who do not.

In Charleroi it is further averred there is a speed limit, but it is defined by the manufacture of the car, and whether it is going up hill or down hill. For instance a car is not allowed to go any slower than its machinery will run, and is not permitted to travel at any greater speed than its exploding gasoline will send it.

As last year certain streets of Charleroi are being used as testing ground for cars and for various purposes coming under the general head of joyriding. Prominent among these streets might be named McKean avenue, Fallowfield avenue, Washington avenue, perhaps Crest avenue, a part of Lincoln avenue and Fifth street.

At almost any hour of the day one can stand at a Fifth street corner and see an automobile of some sort climbing Fifth street as though intent on reaching the top before it had a good start. On McKean avenue outside the ranges of immediate police protection autoists allow their machines to travel at a higher speed than is healthy for the neighborhood. On Washington avenue and Lincoln avenue near the entrance to Charleroi the restless spirit of a devil machine is nearly always being demonstrated.

As a matter of fact it looks as though it is the amateur drivers principally and not the experienced autoists who are the most reckless. The experienced men have had enough experience to recognize the danger from fool joyriding. The other day a man was seen aiming for the top of Fifth street. He had been taught how to run his bright and shiny new car only a few days before. Admiring friends stood at the foot of the hill watching him as he let loose the demons contained his gasoline tank. He traversed the hill all right—in fact covered a good part of Fifth street in going up that did not look necessary. It was dangerous to say the least.

Chief of Police C. W. Albright said to say that the police were on watch to see that the automobile laws were generally enforced. He has received no complaints. An arrest was made about a month ago of a man whose machine had struck a girl at the corner of Tenth street and McKean avenue. Monday night it is asserted a driver was hailed as he shot along McKean avenue, and told to slow up. This was done by a citizen who took the number of the machine and left the impression that if the law was not better obeyed, some action would follow.

INDIFFERENT VOTERS.

Nowhere was the general civic indifference of citizens better manifested than at the special bond issue election held at Monessen last week. Out of a registration of voters exceeding 1,800, less than 500 of them showed enough civic pride and interest to express themselves on the subject. The bond issue was an important public issue, which calls for the borrowing of $175,000 for the purpose of erecting two new school houses.

While there did not appear to be any opposition to the bond issue, as the need of the school facilities is apparent, yet an opposition could easily have been developed that might have defeated the issue, which would have been exceedingly detrimental to the progress and efficiency of the schools. The voters of Monessen and all interested in the civic and educational progress of the town took a long chance in not attending the election. It was good luck, not good citizenship, that carried the much needed issue. A little quiet work on the part of any active opposition could easily have changed the result.

It is this indifference on the part of citizens that results in the misgovernment of our municipalities. Statistics show that scarcely sixty percent of the voters ever turn out at any election, and that a minority actually rules in most instances. This is possible because the minority is persistently active and always on the job. They are permitted to rule and ruin by the better class of citizens, who are too indifferent to attend the elections and vote for men their business judgment would select, and the result is public waste and extravagance, and the reign of vice and corruption.

TOO MUCH SPEEDING.

Numerous complaints are received at this office concerning the undue speed at which auto drivers exercise along the streets of Charleroi. With the opening of spring this abuse is experienced each year, and it usually requires several arrests and the speeders realize that the public will not tolerate continuous demonstrations of the Scriptural term, "the quick and the dead."

The laws governing and regulating speeding in crowded streets are stringent and explicit. Our local officials make every effort to check and punish reckless driving, but they are not able to patrol every section of the town at once, and it is in sections where the drivers know that no officer is present that the speed regulations are continually broken. These sections are the most dangerous spots, as it is there where the most children congregate, and half-breath escapes are reported to be of daily occurrence. The paved residence streets and the main avenues outside of the business center are the places where the law is most flagrantly violated.

Every owner of a machine should be interested in safeguarding the public in the matter of speed regulation. Unless this is done a hostile public sentiment will be aroused which will result in stringent regulations that will be exceedingly irksome. The public has rights that even the owner of his first machine is bound to respect. A good plan for law abiding citizens and parents who are concerned for the safety of their children to follow is to take numbers of the machines of speed violators and report them to the burgess. The latter can summon the violators to appear, when they are accessible and an acquaintance with the penalties of the law will have a wholesome effect. The police should also exercise extra vigilance now that the season has opened for auto recreation, and see that the speed regulations are rigidly observed.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

John J. Oates, who has been attending the State Federation of Labor at Reading last week, is home for a few days, before going back to his duties as a field sanitary inspector in the state health department. Mr.
Oates was particularly impressed with the civic work and improvements of Reading, and particularly with that part which provides recreation for the children.

"In addition to the public playgrounds, which are regularly maintained and conducted by the city," said Mr. Oates, "two large reservoirs which supply the city water are roofed over with a flat cement roof on structural steel supports. This roof is used for roller skating for the children in the summer time. It is nearly level with the streets and will accommodate from 1,200 to 1,500 children at a time. It is under the supervision of the park police, who maintain order and inform the children when to go home at the specified hours. In the winter time the space is flooded with several inches of water, which is permitted to freeze and is kept clean and in condition for ice skating.

"The regular playgrounds, of which this is an adjunct, are equipped with swings and various other forms of recreation, and under the charge of special directors. In addition the streets are well paved, swept regularly, and lighted with white clustered light globes on ornamental poles at the sides. The city has an up-to-date sewage disposal plant, a modern filtration plant and public drinking fountains which by pressing a button throws up a small stream so that one can drink without the use of a cup. I consider Reading one of the most progressive cities I ever visited."

A recent visitor to a Pittsburg law firm tells the older lawyer of the firm enjoyed a laugh at the expense of a friend who was cashier of a downtown bank.

The youngest member of the law firm, also known to the cashier thinking possibly to make the latter the butt of a practical joke, had attempted without success to change a counterfeit fifty cent piece at the window.
Told of the incident an hour later the older lawyer reached into his pocket and drew out a number of coins.

"When you are weak on the point," he said, as he selected $1.50 from the handful, "try burying it under as much other evidence as may be available; relevant or not, let me have that bad habit, confuse the question at issue. Here Jimmie," called an office boy, "take this change down to Mr. —, the cashier, and get a $2 bill."

And the boy did.

LABORING MEN

SHOW PROGRESS

Another step taken by the convention and which will appeal directly to the public in its fairness is the resolution adopted unanimously that empowers the state president as secretary in conjunction with the various labor representatives at Harrisburg, to visit the governor and urge him to appoint men to the various positions who understand the needs of the majority of the people. The labor organizations (being a unit in favor of the direct vote for United State Senator) will be a power to reckon with when the question of who shall be the next United State senator for Pennsylvania is decided and the party in power and the party expecting to get into power must show the laboring people on their political activity will soon end.

That the differences as to political beliefs in the labor organizations will not interfere with the demands of labor, is very clearly proven in the result of the election of the state officers and delegate to the National Federation of Labor Unions. The effort was made to create dissension in the convention. President Maurer (being a Socialist is also a trades unionist and a good one) was accused of working for the interest of the liquor people (he is known that President Maurer don't use liquor in any form.)
Van Bitter was extensively advertised as working with Billy Sunday for a state wide prohibition law (President Bitter does not use liquor in any form.) and yet in spite of the efforts the delegates elected President Maurer to succeed himself without opposition and elected President Van Bitter of the Mine Workers Union as their National delegate, without opposition, proving very clearly there was no trouble in the state.
Neither Bitter nor Maurer were not interested in anything but the success of the workers. How ably that is being done it is only necessary to read what President Maurer said in answer to the senator's impeachment that the children worked long hours for ages, Maurer saying, "Why should we in this age of invention, exploit women and women, because it was done a century ago?"

The public hearing before the Senate Committee on the Child Labor bill last Wednesday a striking contrast was exhibited; a contrast between the two sides of the state.
The side without much hesitancy and that was the fact, that a few manufacturers had brought their employees 1-600 strong, well dressed men, chiefly clerks to add strength to their contention, that if they could not have the life's blood squeezed out of the women and children in working long hours, they could not operate their factories and mills, and the representatives of Labor 300 strong, appealing in behalf of the woman and child, that the fair name of the state of Pennsylvania would not be longer stained by the life blood of its children for the purpose of making "dividends."

Let us hope that Pennsylvania will not lack in the protection of its women and children and that the senator's will be unanimous in voting for the women and child labor bills, and the women and devotion to our children is not lacking in this grand old state of Pennsylvania.

A NEW REMEDY THOMPSON'S KIDNEY TABLETS

Are the result of a great deal of medical research and study.

Thompson's Kidney Tablets are composed of the drugs that have proved themselves in past years the most efficacious for kidney and bladder diseases, combined with the newly discovered drugs and chemicals that have been thought impossible. They also act upon the liver.

If you have any indication of kidney, liver or bladder trouble, backache, sideache, sallow complexion or nervousness, we want you to try the Tablets on these liberal terms. Purchase a box of Thompson's Kidney Tablets from Piper Bros., and W. F. Hennings and if you are not greatly benefited after taking the tablets, return the empty box to them and they will cheerfully return your money. Price 50 cents.

NO FEAR OF A "HOLY WAR"

Enthusiasm, though of the most extreme character, is powerless in Modern Warfare.

The possibility that the green flag of the prophet may be lifted by the sultan of Turkey, who is invested with dread dignity as the successor of Mohammed, always excites comment when the Turk is at war with the Frank. But the magic phrase, "a holy war," bears examination no better than the generalization called "the Oriental mind," writes William T. Ellis in the Century. Italy has just proved in Tripoli that fanaticism huris itself in vain against modern machine guns, and the forces upon which the leaders of a "jihad," or holy war, can rely, are, except in the case of Turkey itself, wholly unorganized along modern military lines. Even the Arabs' immemorial maneuver of striking a swift blow and then retiring to the fastnesses of the oases is thwarted by the scouting aeroplane. Mobs cannot fight armies. In the old rush of spearsmen and swordsmen and bowmen the casualties were comparatively so few that the wounded might be carried away or left behind. Modern weapons do a wholesale business; they are to the old ways as the steam reaper to the sickle.

Another factor, unheeded by the romantic, which time has injected into any possible conflict between the followers of the prophet and the civilized powers is that of a navy. The recent experience of Turkey with Italy is sufficient commentary upon this. An armed rising of all Islam against all Christendom is utterly impossible. Even in India the unorganized, undrilled, unarmed and scattered Moslems, numerous as they are, could not hope to prevail against the British troops.

How Old is a Relic?

How old must a relic be to possess historical importance? The discussion of the fate of the old assay office suggests the question. Mr. E. H. Hall of the Scenic and Historic Preservation society, who as a professional saver of relics may perhaps qualify as an expert, says that the assay office "is not even a hundred years old, and I think a building should be at least that old to have much historic value." Obviously, however, the strict application of this rule to determine the claims of any building to preservation would mean, in a rapidly changing and developing community, the destruction of practically everything of present moderate and future great historic interest. Conservation of potential relics is necessary if we are to have real ones. If a thing must endure its full century before it begins to be regarded as venerable, there is very little chance in this country of its ever becoming venerable at all. The rule would send it to the dump heap at ninety without remorse, even if its character were such that, had the march of business been ten years slower, it would have come to be treasured in the relic class.—New York Tribune.

Bomb Explodes After 58 Years.

A citizen of this town was wont to show his friends a bomb which was thrown into the town when the British attacked it during the Crimean war, and to remark that English bombs are not much good, as this one failed to explode.

The relic was kept in the bathroom. A servant put it into the empty Russian store of huge size. Suddenly the bomb burst the other day, wrecking the house, but causing no casualties. It had the best of the joke after fifty-eight years.

The amusement has caused much amusement here, one local wag remarking that the English bomb burst to seal the Anglo-Russian friendship.—Petropavlovsk Corr. Pall Mall Gazette.

Took First Position.

Mr. William Milligan Sloane, "Seth Low" professor of history at Columbia university in an interview with the London Daily Mail correspondent, said: "I understand that a certain Berlin correspondent of a New York newspaper received a cablegram from his editor which read: 'Don't send much war news, world's baseball series now on.'"

BEGAN GREAT CAREERS EARLY

English and American actresses who showed possession of genius when they were children.

It has been said that seldom do infant stage prodigies fulfill the expectations of the future. As a matter of fact, however, many of our leading actresses began their stage careers when they were children.

Ellen Terry, for instance, made her first appearance in "A Winter's Tale" when she was eight; her sister Kate when she was seven; her niece Beatrix when she was ten, and another niece, Minnie, when she was three; while Marion Terry played Ophelia when she was seventeen. Winifred Emery (Mrs. Cyril Maude) made her first appearance on the stage in "The Green Bushes" when she was eight, and gained her first success when she was seventeen.

Referring to American actresses, one might mention Maud Adams, perhaps one of the most successful of Mr. Frohman's "stars," who first appeared on the stage when she was a baby of the age of sixteen. Julia Marlowe made her first appearance in a juvenile production of "H. M. S. Pinafore" when she was twelve; while Maud Fealy first played when she was three.

Woman.

To think of a part one little woman can play in the life of a man, so that to renounce her may be a very good imitation of heroism, and to win her may be a discipline!—George Elliot.

Just the Trouble.

"Opportunity really knocks at many a door." "Then why don't more of us succeed better?" "The trouble is that opportunity wants us to go to work."—Pittsburg Post.

Good Tip.

"I should like to secure an audience with your wife." "If you will consent to be the audience it ought to be easy enough."—Houston Post.

Course Not.

"Did he kiss you when he proposed?" "Certainly; I wouldn't consider any but sealed proposals."

English Humor.

Big Sculpture.

The most remarkable proposal ever made about Mount Athos was that of the architect Diocrates. His plan was to cut it into the shape of a gigantic statue of Alexander the Great, holding in the right hand a city, in the left a tank that was to receive all the waters of the region. Alexander was much taken with the scheme. But it was eventually rejected on the ground that the neighboring country was not fertile enough to feed the inhabitants of the projected city. Another of Diocrates' plans was a temple to the wife of King Ptolemy of Egypt, with a roof of loadstones that would keep an iron statue of her floating in the air.

Better Days Coming.

"This is the tenth time you have been up before me," said the Cleveland judge severely. "Is it possible, your honor?" replied the prisoner. "Well! well! Ain't it wonderful how long some judges hold office under the old system? But I promise it won't happen again—not after you get the recall to workin'!"

Extraordinary Sale of Carpets and Rugs

Sale Days May 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, and 26th

Right at the time that you are needing them we are making some interesting prices on carpets. And these carpets are of the best grades right out of our stock. You have perhaps bought off these very same rolls, or else you know some one that has. If you have a small room or need a small quantity of carpet now is your time to buy. We must close out these short rolls and the prices we are making will surely convince you. There are fifty or more of these patterns, ranging from ten to twenty-three yards. They are Smith's Tapestries, Velvets and Axminsters and Roxbury Tapestries. Each roll bears a red ticket with the yardage and price in plain figures. The Red Ticket tells the story. You can buy them yourself, we will deliver.

|--|-------------|
| Smith's 80c Tapestries, Red Ticket Price | 60c yard |
| Smith's 90c Tapestries, Red Ticket Price | 65c yard |
| Smith's $1.00 Tapestries, Red Ticket Price | 70c yard |
| Smith's $1.25 Velvets, Red Ticket Price | $1.00 yard |
| Smith's $1.35 Axminsters, Red Ticket Price | 1.00 yard |
| Roxbury $1.10 Tapestries, Red Ticket Price | 75c yard |
| Roxbury Borders, $1.10 Tapestries, Red Ticket Price | 60c yard |

These Roxbury Borders are just what you need. We used them to make bordered carpets, but now that the regular carpet pattern is sold out we must sacrifice them. Our loss is your gain, and you should buy some of this carpet for your hall or porch. Sew two pieces together any length you want and you will have a porch rug that will last for years. $1.10 values now to be had for just 60c.

We've secured a few patterns of Body Brussel Rugs at a price and we are going to give you the advantage of these prices.

Six patterns of Burmah Body Brussels, size 9x12 ft., beautiful new patterns, just like you get in a thirty dollar rug. $16.00 each.

Four patterns of the same quality, size 8 ft. 3. x 10 ft. 6 in., $15.00 each.

They won't last long, so you had better come in early. There are many other Red Ticket Prices in this department and they will save you money.

There are many special bargains on sale this week but best of all are our regular stocks of the most dependable merchandise. Come often, we are pleased to show our goods. You can buy when you are ready.

WAYS OF FRENCH BEGGARS

Select Their Favorite Prison, Then Commit an Offense to Secure Winter Accommodations.

Beggars and professional vagabonds who have passed thirty years do not fail each year when the winds of October blow to select their winter quarters.

It is then that each of them commits some offense, well knowing that he will get a penalty of six months' imprisonment. The delinquent so times his offense that he will not be at liberty until the month of April, in the first warm breezes of spring. He chooses his winter quarters wisely, for he knows the good and bad prisons. Fresnes, because of its valued and luxurious accommodations, occupies the first rank among prisons. This year the temperature was such as to bring about some true knavery on the part of these beggars and vagabonds. From the month of August they were forced to commit some offense in order to assure themselves a shelter.

So la Santa, the antechamber of Fresnes, was gorged with prisoners for whom the tardy rays of the September sun proved a cruel torment. The inmates show clemency and condemn these delinquents to only six months of prison the disaster of these poor devils will be complete, for they will, without pity, be thrown into the street in the open month of January—le Ori de Paris.

ARE HANDSOMEST IN WORLD

Royal Irish Constabulary Bear Off the Palm From All Police of the Earth.

According to those most entitled to speak on the comparative pulchritude of the police, the Royal Irish Constabulary bear off the palm from all policemen in all other parts of the world. Dean Hile is quoted in the London Chronicle as contributing the following tribute to the fascinations of the noble Irish force.

Our London police are well favored in appearance, but if the Royal Irish Constabulary were to take their place for a week there wouldn't be a single female servant to be warranted heart whole in the metropolis.

London goes to the rural districts for its policemen largely, and the result is often as amusing, not to say exasperating as that which afflicts in New York from the employment of foreign car conductors, sublimely ignorant of city streets and neighborhood. The Chronicle writer tells of an encounter with an inexperienced policeman who was asked the whereabouts of a famous firm in the neighborhood, to which query the new bobby replied gaily.

"Bless ye, I know no more than yourself, sir. I only came up from Dorset yesterday."

Tea Drinking a Vice? A foreign critic says, "In hunting a cause for this apparent decadence of the once mighty people (the British), some scientists have had much to say on the subject of tea drinking, for nowhere else is the habit so universal as in the British Isles. Women and children drink tea off and on during the day. Business men have to stop their work at intervals to partake of their tea. And in most instances the brew is exceptionally strong. It has been estimated that each person in Great Britain, on an average, takes a daily dose of 88 grains of alkaloid and 97 grains of tannin consumed in tea. This means that the average tea drinker takes half as much alkaloid and nearly as much tannin as the maximum allowed by the British pharmacopoeia for an occasional dose. And, of course, many thousands of people drink a great deal more than the average dose."

Speed of a Bullet. Experiments with improved instruments for measuring the velocity of projectiles have shown that the speed goes on increasing after the missile has left the mouth of the cannon. Leaving the muzzle with a velocity of 1,474 feet a second, a projectile has been observed to increase its speed to 1,689 feet a second within the first six feet. It is only after having traveled 25 yards that the projectile's velocity becomes reduced to the speed it has on leaving the muzzle. This is ascribed to the impulse of the expanding gas being felt for some distance beyond the cannon's mouth.

Cheek "Cheek" in the sense of impudence is an old term. The earliest quotation in Sir James Murray's dictionary is from Captain Marryat (1840). But it has lately been found in the sixteenth century records of Galway, in the west of Ireland. The municipal rulers of that fighting city—the "men from Galway" has become proverbial for pluck and readiness to defend the hottest of corners—decreed that any person giving "cheek" to the mayor should "forfeit 100 shillings and have his body put into prison."

Varying Melting Points. The melting points of various heat-resisting materials have been thus determined by the United States Bureau of Standards: Fireclay brick, 2,831 to 3,187 degrees Fahrenheit; hauxite brick, 2,841 to 3,245 degrees; chromite brick, 3,772 degrees; magnesite brick, 3,929 degrees; bauxite, 3,308 degrees; chromite, 4,366 degrees; pure alumina, 3,650 degrees; pure silica, 3,183 degrees; silicon carbide, beginning to decompose at 4,023 degrees, but does not melt below 4,023 degrees.

PROF. FINEBERG LECTURES HERE AT TURNER HALL

Although deserving of a much better audience than the one that attended the illustrated lecture of Prof. Nathan Fineberg at Turner Hall Monday night was a masterly exposition of culture and travel. Prof. Fineberg, who is a cultured scholar and linguist of rare ability, delivered a most entertaining lecture, which was illustrated by a wide variety of handsome views of the most noted places of interest in the world.

Introducing his lecture with remarks on "Universal Peace," Prof. Fineberg followed with a declamation in Holy Language, which he translated into English. The first views exhibited were those of the Holy Land, showing the various points of interest that figure in both the old and new testaments. Views were also shown of natural scenery in both American and the old world, those of the wonders of the world being particularly fine.

At intervals Prof. Fineberg gave declamations in Yiddish, German, English, Italian, Spanish, Lithuanian, Polish, Russian and French, with translations in English. His lecture was a rare treat and highly enjoyed by those who attended.

Edith Evans' Heroism.

Among the names which the world loves to honor, in connection with the appalling Titanic disaster, that of Edith Evans should not be forgotten. She was one of a number of women who had taken their places in one of the lifeboats on the doomed liner. When it was about to be lowered, however, it was found that there was one more passenger than could be carried in safety.

Who would be the one to give up the chance of safety was a question that would not have been easily settled if heroic self-forgetfulness had not afforded a solution. This young girl with everything to live for, with a bright future before her, rose to her feet, saying to the woman beside her that she must remain, since she had children at home. She went down with the hundreds of other heroes and heroines, but of them all no name is worthy of more reverent remembrance.
